

5 Thoughts

Vocabulary 1: thought processes

A The pictures show people thinking in different ways. Complete the captions with a verb from below.

predict concentrate imagine consider decide calculate

'This is very difficult to _____.'

'I _____ a fall in the price of oil.'

'Can you be quiet? I can't _____.'

'Can you _____ living somewhere like that?'

'Mm, I can't _____ which one I want.'

'I'll _____ your offer and call you in a few days.'

B Listen and check your answers.

C Put the words below in the spaces to make common expressions.

a decision your brain an idea a thought your imagination a prediction

1. have _____ / _____
2. make _____ / _____
3. use _____ / _____

Grammar check

Many of the verbs in this lesson are state verbs, and so they are not used in a continuous form.

I think his new film is very good. ✓

NOT I'm thinking his new film is very good. ✗

We say I don't think + affirmative verb clause.

NOT I think + negative verb clause.

I don't think he's listening. ✓

NOT I think he isn't listening. ✗

Watch out! typical errors

I'm thinking it will rain. ✗

Sorry, I'm not understanding. ✗

I think Peter will not come to the party. ✗

Pronunciation check

 Listen and notice how /t/ at the end of don't and can't is not pronounced clearly in fast natural speech, especially when the following verb begins with a consonant sound.
 1. I don't think so. 2. I can't concentrate. 3. I don't know. 4. I can't decide.
 Practise saying all the sentences.

Speaking 1: how people think

A Look at the pictures. With a partner, talk about how each person has to think.

doctor

clothes designer

surveyor

businessmen

Example: 'The businessmen have to calculate, consider options and make decisions.'

B Answer these questions with a partner.

1. Are you good at making decisions?
2. Are you good at making predictions?
3. Are you good at calculating figures?
4. When do you find it difficult to concentrate?
5. Do you have a good imagination?

Speaking 2: expressing opinions

Exam tip: In the first part of the Speaking Module, the examiner will ask about your life. He or she will expect you to express an opinion.

A Look at these questions and think about how you could express an opinion in your answer.

1. So, are you going to university next year?
2. Tell me something about your job.
3. Do you work hard?
4. Tell me about your hometown.
5. What do you do in your free time?

B  Listen to some students answering the questions. For each question, tick the speaker who gives the better answer.

1. Speaker A ___ 2. Speaker A ___ 3. Speaker A ___ 4. Speaker A ___ 5. Speaker A ___
 Speaker B ___ Speaker B ___ Speaker B ___ Speaker B ___ Speaker B ___

C  Listen again and complete the phrases below.

1. I'm really looking _____ to it.
2. Yes, but I don't _____.
3. I really _____ living there.
4. I'm very _____ on basketball.

D Ask and answer the questions in Exercise A with a partner.

Listening 1: understanding diagrams

A Look at the diagrams below and answer the questions with a partner.

1. What does each diagram show?
2. What can you predict about what you will hear?

B Listen to these extracts from five listening tasks. Match each with one of the diagrams in Exercise A.

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____
4. _____
5. _____

C Listen again and fill in the missing information on each diagram. Use no more than two words for each.

D Mark these statements about completing diagrams (T) true or (F) false.

1. You can only complete the diagram if you know a lot about the topic. _____
2. The labels that you have to complete are in the same order as the information that you hear. _____
3. You should look at the diagram carefully before you listen. _____
4. You don't need to look at the diagram while you are listening. _____
5. The answers are always the exact words that you hear. _____
6. You need to think about using an article (a / an / the) with your answers. _____

Exam tip: You might need to label a diagram for some questions in the Listening Module. The fourth part is often an academic lecture given by one speaker, and labelling diagrams is common. Sometimes you will need to write words onto a diagram and sometimes you will need to match labels to parts of a diagram.

Listening 2: practice with diagrams

A Listen to the continuation of the lecture about the human brain. Look at the diagram before you listen. For questions 1–6, match the parts of the brain 1–6 with the parts a–f in the diagram. Write the letters in the space after each number.

1. spinal cord —
2. cerebellum —
3. pituitary gland —
4. brain stem —
5. cerebrum —
6. thalamus —

For questions 7–14, complete the descriptions. Use one word only for each answer.

7. The cerebrum has _____ hemispheres.
8. The cerebrum controls voluntary _____.
9. The cerebellum helps us with balance and our understanding of _____.
10. The thalamus processes information that our body senses.
11. The hypothalamus tells us when we are hungry or thirsty or when we need to _____.
12. The midbrain sends _____ from the brain to other parts of the nervous system.
13. The medulla oblongata regulates how quickly or slowly our _____ beats.
14. The spinal cord _____ the brain to the rest of our body.
15. Hormones from the pituitary gland regulate how quickly we _____ and how quickly we age.

B Check in the key on page 267. How many questions did you answer correctly?

C Tick the sentences about the listening task that are true for you and think about how you can answer more questions correctly next time.

1. Looking at the diagram and reading through the questions helped me to predict content.
2. The task was difficult because I didn't know anything about the topic.
3. The specialist vocabulary made the task more difficult.
4. I didn't worry about specialist vocabulary because I didn't use those words in the answers.
5. Most of my spelling was correct.
6. I am happy with how many questions I answered correctly.

Exam tip: Don't worry if you don't know a word you need to label a diagram. You will hear it explained on the recording. Sometimes you need to copy them onto your answer sheet, but usually you will only need to match them with a letter.

Key vocabulary in context

Use the correct form of these verbs from the listening extract to complete these sentences.

function control balance process

1. The liver _____ the food and liquid that goes through our system.
2. An engine doesn't _____ without petrol.
3. This switch _____ the temperature in the room.
4. It is difficult to _____ on one leg if you close your eyes.

Reading 1: guessing unknown words and phrases in context

- A Look only at the highlighted word and phrase in the extract below. Do you know either of them?

Having a good memory is certainly an advantage. My brother seems to have a brain with a huge capacity for new information. He remembers everything he sees or hears and has a very successful career. My brain seems to work differently – in fact, I have a memory like a sieve. Information goes straight in and straight back out.

- B Read the whole extract and then talk with a partner. Try to explain the highlighted words.

- C Answer the questions about the highlighted word and phrase.

1. Tick the correct definition for capacity.
 - a. how long something is ____
 - b. how much something can hold ____
 - c. how fast something travels ____
2. Tick the correct picture of a sieve.

Exam tip: When you are reading, you don't want to worry about the meaning of every word. However, some words are vital to understand the text or to answer a question correctly. You will not have a dictionary in the exam, so it is important that you learn to guess the meanings of words in context – from the other words around the word that you don't know.

- D Look only at the highlighted words in these extracts. Then read the extracts and tick the correct definition of the highlighted word that follows.

1. It is difficult to understand even the gist of a conversation or talk if you have no idea of the topic before you listen. Knowing what the topic is helps you to tune in. You can then listen for key words and make more sense of the information you hear.
Tune in means ...
 - a. start to understand.
 - b. be an expert on a subject.
 - c. do something better than other people.
2. As people grow older, they need to exercise both their bodies and their minds. Jogging or playing golf can keep people physically healthy, while reading and playing games can help them to stay alert.
Alert means ...
 - a. quick and ready to react.
 - b. slower than usual.
 - c. big and strong.

3. It was very late and I had been driving for several hours. The fact that I was so tired affected my judgement. I didn't slow down and hit the back of another car that was waiting at the traffic lights.

Judgement is ...

- a. the need to drive carefully. b. a lot of cars in the same place.
c. the ability to understand a situation.

Reading 2: understanding new words and phrases

Exam tip: You will read more quickly if you can guess new words from words that you already know. The word you know can be part of a new word or part of a new phrase or expression.

- A Look at these words and phrases and guess what they mean. Compare with a partner.

brainy brainless daydream over my head in two minds

- B Now look at the highlighted words and phrases in context and circle the correct option in the definition that follows.

- James is the brainy one in the class. If you need help with a question, ask him.
Brainy means not busy / very clever.
- When I went on holiday last year, I left the bathroom window open. Somebody climbed in and stole my TV and DVD recorder. I can't believe I did something so brainless.
Brainless means very stupid / unkind.
- I was daydreaming and I walked right past my office. I had to turn round and walk back.
Daydreaming means not concentrating / thinking about important things.
- Tariq was sick and missed a few lectures. When his friends were talking and comparing notes, it all went over Tariq's head.
If something goes over your head, you listen very carefully / don't understand it at all.
- I'm in two minds about taking this job. It's very well paid, but it's very challenging. I'd have lots of money, but I'd have to work around sixty hours a week.
If you are in two minds about something, you can't make a decision / really want it.

- C Complete these sentences so that they are true for you. Then compare with a partner.

- _____ is the brainy one in my family.
- I was in two minds about _____.
- Once I was daydreaming and I _____.
- _____ is the one in my family with a memory like sieve.

Reading 3: practice with unknown words and phrases

- A Look at the highlighted words and phrases on the next page but do not check them in a dictionary. You will need to guess their meanings to answer the questions.

- B Read this advertisement for a course that improves your memory. For questions 1–6, decide if the information given below agrees with the information given in the advertisement. Write (T) true, (F) false or (NG) not given.

- The course will show you new ways to remember names and faces. _____
- Most successful people have met a world leader. _____
- People who are very successful in business have a good memory. _____
- None of the Memory Enhancer techniques have been tested. _____
- Doing the course will make you more like other people. _____
- Claire and David did the course in order to get better jobs. _____

For questions 7–12, complete the sentences below with words taken from the passage. Write no more than three words for each answer.

7. The Memory Enhancer course consists of _____ lessons.
8. You can achieve a number of _____ by registering for the course.
9. Even if people _____ you, you will remember them.
10. Phone numbers and addresses will be stored in your memory and you will be able to easily _____ them.
11. You will be able to concentrate more clearly and _____ for longer.
12. _____, you can learn how to give long talks and become more confident.

Memory Enhancer A course you'll never forget!

Learn the techniques that will help you memorize names, faces and so much more.

Successful people have very good memories! If you don't believe us, ask anyone who's met a world leader or a business tycoon. The people who really make things happen don't forget. Now you, too, can recall names and numbers in seconds – using scientifically proven techniques, Memory Enhancer is a course that will put you ahead of the rest.

'Memory Enhancer changed my life!' Claire Brown

'I've said goodbye to my diary!' David Stone

These are just two of the satisfied customers who signed up for Memory Enhancer and, in ten easy lessons, improved their lives forever.

Here are just a few of the gains you can achieve when you register right now:

- Memorize the names and faces of everyone you meet and never forget them. Impress people you've recently met by remembering them when they've forgotten you.
- Easily retrieve essential data. Have phone numbers, addresses, pin numbers and other bank details stored in your memory.
- Store dates and figures for tests and exams. Never fail another test in your life.
- Develop clearer concentration and extend the time you can focus on detail.
- Be more alert when you drive or operate machines.
- Memorize long speeches and presentations in minutes. Feel your confidence grow.
- Achieve more at work, make more money and be happier!

Enter your name and e-mail address here to register now – free of charge

Name: E-mail:

Register Now >>>

C Check the key on pages 267 and 268. How many questions did you answer correctly?

D Tick the sentences about the reading task that are true for you and think about how you can answer more questions correctly next time.

1. I could guess the meaning of most highlighted words in context.
2. Guessing unknown words and phrases helped me to answer the questions.
3. I was happy with how quickly I found the information that I needed.
4. I am happy with how many questions I answered correctly.

Key vocabulary in context

Complete the sentences below.

remember recall memorize

1. I met an interesting man at the meeting, but I can't _____ / _____ his name.
2. Now, you must _____ to lock the door when you leave.
3. The best way to learn irregular verbs is to write them down and _____ them.

WB For focus on reading skills, go to Workbook page 15.

Writing 1: understanding instructions

A Look at the pictures and answer the questions below with a partner.

1. What do the photos have in common?
2. What is the difference between the two types of lesson?
3. What are the advantages of learning a language in a group?
4. What are the advantages of having a one-to-one lesson?

B Look at the instructions for a typical writing task. Answer the question that follows with a partner.

As part of a class assignment, you have been asked to write about the following topic:

Do you think it is better to learn a language in a group with other students, or is it better to have private one-to-one lessons?

Give reasons for your answer and include any relevant examples from your experience. Write at least 250 words.

1. Do you understand what you have to do, or are there words in the instructions that you don't know?

C Look at the notes a student has made on the instructions. Is the task clearer now?

something you write for your teacher

As part of a class assignment, you have been asked to write about the following topic:

Do you think it is better to learn a language in a group with other students, or is it better to have private one-to-one lessons?

Give reasons for your answer and include any relevant examples from your experience.

Write at least 250 words.

I must say why I think something.

mention things that I know from what has happened in my life

'Relevant' means say only things connected with the topic.

Exam tip: In the second part of the Writing Module, the instructions will be like this or very similar. Make sure you know what the highlighted words and phrases mean.

Writing 2: presenting a balanced argument

A Look at this page from a student's notebook. Notice how he has organized points to help him plan his composition.

group lesson +	group lesson -	one-to-one +	one-to-one - you can practise with other students	there is a lot of noise	teacher can give all his/her attention to you	it is very intensive

B Copy the table into your notebook. Then add these points to the correct column.

1. The teacher can deal immediately with any difficulties you have.
2. You have to listen to other students making a lot of mistakes.
3. You only have one other person's opinion in a discussion.
4. You meet new people and make new friends – sometimes from other cultures.
5. One-to-one lessons are very expensive.
6. If you talk in pairs, the teacher can't always hear what you are saying.
7. The teacher can go through your written work with you and explain the things you don't understand.
8. You feel nervous because the teacher watches you when you read or do an exercise.

Exam tip: If you do not have a strong opinion about a topic or you see both sides of an argument, you should write a balanced composition. Brainstorm points that support both sides of an argument and then organize them.

C Look at these two compositions. Which one do you prefer?

A

People want to learn one-to-one because the teacher can give them all his attention. In a group, the teacher must give his attention to all the students, and it takes too long. If you have a one-to-one lesson, you can tell the teacher what you want to study, but if you study in a group, you must do what other students choose to do. In a group, you must also listen to mistakes other students make, and in a one-to-one, you don't have to. If you have a one-to-one class, the teacher can listen to everything you say and correct your pronunciation and the mistakes you make. In a bigger class, the teacher cannot listen to everything that everyone says and so does not hear mistakes. If you study in a group, you can meet lots of people and make new friends, but in a one-to-one you will not meet anyone but the teacher. In a bigger class, you can play games and lessons are more fun, but in a one-to-one class, lessons are boring and intensive. Learning in a group is better for some students and learning in a one-to-one class is better for others.

B

These days, it is a big advantage to speak another language, and English is probably the most useful. Students at university are learning English, and children are learning English earlier at school. Companies want people who work for them to speak good English.

Most students learn English in a group. There is one teacher and anything from ten to thirty students. However, some people think you learn more quickly and make better progress if you have a one-to-one class and the teacher gives you all of his or her attention.

Of course, if there is only you and the teacher, you will get all the attention, and the teacher can deal with your difficulties immediately. The teacher can listen to everything you say and correct the mistakes you make. He or she can look at your written work with you and explain what you do not understand. Most importantly, you can tell the teacher what you want to learn in the lesson and ask to revise something. You don't have to do what other students choose, and you don't have to listen to their mistakes.

On the other hand, learning one-to-one is intensive, and in a discussion you only have the opinion of one other person. In a group, there are more people to share ideas with. You can play games and have fun in class. When I was studying in London, I met interesting people from many other countries. I learnt about other cultures and made new friends.

If you have plenty of time to learn a language, it might be more enjoyable in a group. If, however, you need to learn quickly, one-to-one lessons might be best. Remember, though, that one-to-one lessons are very expensive!

D Discuss with a partner what you like and don't like about the two compositions. Then look at the examiner's comments on page 268.

Go to Workbook page 15 for the writing task.

Speaking

A Look at this advice about the IELTS Speaking Module. Tick the advice that you think is best.

1. You must use advanced vocabulary to impress the examiner.
2. You shouldn't try to use vocabulary that you don't know properly, but you should try to use the right words and phrases for the situation.
3. The examiner doesn't listen to the vocabulary you use, so you can say whatever you like.

B Look at these questions and think about how you could answer them.

1. Is your job ever challenging?
2. Do you have to think creatively in your work or studies?
3. Do you have any hobbies that involve a lot of thinking?

C Look at the answers that some students give to the questions in Exercise B. For each, tick the answer that you think is better.

1. Is your job ever challenging?
Student A: Yes, I must think very much about what to do. ____
Student B: Yes, I have to make important decisions every day. ____
2. Do you have to think creatively in your work or studies?
Student A: Yes, I must think hard to make things in my mind. ____
Student B: Yes, I have to use my imagination all the time. ____
3. Do you have any hobbies that involve a lot of thinking?
Student A: Well, I play golf, and to play well you really have to concentrate. ____
Student B: Well, I play golf, and I must think very hard all the time. ____

D Ask and answer the questions in Exercise C with a partner. Choose your vocabulary carefully.

Vocabulary

A Correct the spelling mistakes in these words.

- | | |
|-----------------------|----------------------|
| 1. concider _____ | 2. pridiction _____ |
| 3. immagination _____ | 4. consentrate _____ |
| 5. disision _____ | 6. memary _____ |

B  Listen and mark the main stress on the words in Exercise A above.

C Fill the gaps with a word made from the root words in the box.

1. All this noise is affecting my _____.
2. Come on – use your _____.
3. I don't really know enough to make a _____.
4. I need to be very _____ in my job.
5. Mind-mapping helps you to think _____.

concentrate imagine judge create create

Errors

A There are errors in all of these sentences (sometimes more than one). Correct them.

1. I'm sorry. I haven't done a decision yet.
2. Sorry, I'm not remembering your name.
3. I think I won't pass this test.
4. Are you sure you recalled to close all the windows?
5. I'm looking forward at the weekend.

Exam Practice

5

Listening

A You will hear someone giving a talk about how mind-mapping can help you think more clearly.

For questions 1–6, listen and complete the notes. Write no more than three words or a number for each answer.

1. You can think _____ if you use mind maps.
2. Mind-mapping helps you to solve _____ in a creative way.
3. Drawing a mind map will help you see how parts of a topic or subject _____.
4. Mind-mapping is quite different from conventional _____.
5. By seeing the 'shape' of a topic, you will know which individual points within it are _____.
6. Mind maps are compact, so it is easier to _____ what you have written down.

For questions 7–14, label the time management mind map below. Write no more than three words or a number for each answer.

Reading

Exam tip: In this exam practice task, the text is authentic (real and not made easier for students) and so quite challenging. The questions, however, are a little easier. You should identify the key words and phrases that provide answers and guess their meanings from the context.

A Read this information page about an organization called Mensa.

For questions 1 and 2, choose the correct letter a, b or c.

1. You can only be a member of Mensa if you are ...
a. a scientist or a doctor. b. very intelligent. c. very tall.

2. Mensa ...
- a. is a political organization. b. only accepts people from some countries and religions.
 - c. is not concerned with where its members are from or what they believe.

For questions 3–5, choose three letters a–f.

What are Mensa's objectives?

- a. to know who is very intelligent and to help those people use their intelligence well
- b. for people with high intelligence to get better jobs
- c. for people to understand more about intelligence
- d. to help people who are not intelligent to learn
- e. to make the world a safer place for people to live
- f. for members to enjoy being part of the organization

3. ____ 4. ____ 5. ____

For questions 6–10, decide if the information given below agrees with the information given on the information page. Write (T) true, (F) false or (NG) not given, if you think the answer is not in the text.

- 6. Most members of Mensa know each other. _____
- 7. Members of Mensa all work in similar professions. _____
- 8. Mensa has some very young and some very old members. _____
- 9. Intelligent people enjoy communicating with other intelligent people. _____
- 10. Mensa is a very serious organization for very serious people. _____

What is Mensa?

Mensa was founded in England in 1946 by Roland Berrill, a barrister, and Dr Lance Ware, a scientist and lawyer. They had the idea of forming a society for bright people, the only qualification for membership of which was a high IQ. The original aims were, as they are today, to create a society that is non-political and free from all racial or religious distinctions.

The society's official objectives are:

- to identify and foster human intelligence for the benefit of humanity
- to encourage research in the nature, characteristics and uses of intelligence
- to provide a stimulating intellectual and social environment for its members

The society welcomes people from every walk of life whose IQ is in the top two per cent of the population, with the objective of enjoying each other's company and participating in a wide range of social and cultural activities.

Mensa members come from all walks of life and almost every job and profession. Every age group is represented, from pre-school children to members in their eighties, nineties and beyond!

What almost all Mensans have in common is the desire to make contact with other lively minds – in person, in print or online – and enjoy being both entertained and informed.

The essence of Mensa membership is fun and stimulation for the individual. Mensa members read voraciously and enjoy the widest range of interests, leisure pursuits and hobbies.

The atmosphere at all Mensa meetings is welcoming and convivial. Most Mensans are friendly and sensitive people who welcome the chance to make new friends and expand their horizons.

Click here to view our Frequently Asked Questions.