Listening 1: practise identifying key words that you don't know

A Work with a partner. Say what you think is happening in each of these pictures.

B Listen to four short extracts. Match each with a picture from Exercise A.

1. ____ 2. ____ 3. ____ 4. ____

Exam tip: When you are listening, there will sometimes be one key word that you don't know. Sometimes, you will need to guess the meaning in context so that you can answer a question.

C Listen again and mark these statements (T) true or (F) false.

Extract 1: The woman is happy with the price she paid for the jeans. ____

Extract 2: The customer knows the name of the money used in Russia. ____

Extract 3: The school has enough computers for all the children. ____

Extract 4: Somebody stole money from the woman. ____

D What was the key word in each extract? Compare with a partner. Pronounce it.

Exam tip: In the Listening Module, the words you need to write as answers will usually be quite simple words. Sometimes, you might need to write a word that you don't know as an answer. You will need to listen carefully and guess the spelling.

E Listen again and write the words you hear into the spaces. You will need to guess the spelling.

1. I think I got a _____, don't you?
2. I don't know what the _____ in Russia is.
3. We're trying to _____ money to buy computers ...
4. Somebody's just taken my _____. I was taking it out of my handbag ...

Listening 2: practise identifying key words

A Some students are conducting a survey about people's spending habits. Look at the questions on the survey.

Listen and match each extract to a question on the survey. Write the question number in the space. You will not hear all the questions on the survey answered.

Extract 1: question ____ Extract 2: question ____

Extract 3: question ____ Extract 4: question ____

Check the key on pages 269 and 270. How many questions did you answer correctly?

Tick the sentences about the listening task that are true for you and think about how you can answer more questions correctly next time.

1. Reading the questions on the survey helped me to predict content.
2. I identified key words that I didn't know.
3. I could answer questions 1–4 by guessing the meaning of the new words in context.
4. I could guess the meaning of some new words and phrases from words I already knew.
5. I spelt most of the words correctly to answer questions 5–9.
6. I am happy with how many questions I answered correctly.

Key vocabulary in context

Complete these sentences with words from this module.

1. Some organizations _____ money to help feed the poorest people.
2. If you _____ yourself, you buy something nice for yourself.
3. A bargain and a good _____ mean more or less the same thing.
4. The _____ in Japan is yen.
5. Men usually keep money in a wallet, while women carry a _____.

Reading 1: understanding references

A Answer these questions with a partner.

1. When do people normally open their first bank account?
2. How many different accounts do people normally have?
3. What's the difference between a debit and a credit card?
4. How are people paid their salaries in different countries?

B Match the four texts to the sources below.

1. an e-mail to an online advice service
2. a formal letter to a bank
3. an e-mail to a friend
4. information on a web page

- A ... and I really want a car, but I just can't afford one at the moment. I'm sure my dad would lend me the money if I asked him, but I don't want to do that. You know my dad – I'd have to tell him exactly what I want it for and then answer hundreds of questions.
- B Different banks have different rules about allowing customers credit facilities. Some banks like to know that customers can manage their account correctly before they offer them an account with credit facilities. They might say that the customer should open a 'basic bank account' first. This is an account which allows the customer to have his or her salary paid into it and to set up direct debits so that he or she can pay bills directly.
- C I'm going to live in the USA for a year, and I want to know if I can open a bank account before I get there. People have told me that opening an account without an address can be difficult, and that some banks won't even discuss it if they don't meet the customer face-to-face. Can you help?
- D ... while I was conducting business at your ATM located in Norfolk Road, my debit card was not returned from the machine. Because the bank was closed at the time, I could not report this and nobody could help me. Please ensure that my card is returned to me at once or that a new one is issued immediately.

C Read the texts again. Write what each highlighted word refers to.

Text A	one	a car
	him	_____
	that	_____
	it	_____
Text B	This	_____
	his or her / he or she	_____
Text C	there	_____
	it	_____
	they	_____
Text D	this	_____
	one	_____

Exam tip: When you read, it is important to understand how words and phrases relate to each other. You will understand how a text is organized and read more quickly if you can see how one word or phrase refers back or forwards to another.

D Delete the wrong option in each pair of reference words.

- A There are three main types of bank account: a basic account, a current account and a savings account. Customers might choose any of their / these at different times in their / they life.
- B These days, most parents like to open a bank account for their children. They / Them try to pay money into that / it regularly so that when the child is older, he or she will have some savings. I opened an account for my daughter when she was six years old and it / one for my son when he was only four.
- C Temples and palaces were used like banks thousands of years ago before there was money. People left valuable possessions their / there because they knew they / them would be safe.
- D ATMs started to appear in the late 1960s and you now see they / them everywhere. The first mechanical cash dispenser was actually in operation in New York in 1939. It was not popular that / then, however, and it was soon removed from the bank where it was located.

Watch out!
typical errors

My brother wants a dog but I don't like they. ❌

I'm going to buy an ice cream.
Do you want it? ❌

Reading 2: practise understanding references

A Skim the web page on the next page and tick the sentence below that summarizes it.

- Most managers know how to save money.
- Most businesses could do more to save money.

B Read the web page again and highlight any reference words. Is it clear what each refers to?

C Read the web page carefully and answer the questions.

For questions 1–5 decide if the information given below agrees with the information given in the text. Write (T) true, (F) false or (NG) not given.

- Most businesses lose money because of the waste they produce. _____
- Many managers frequently change the way they run their office. _____
- People usually read the marketing mail they receive in the post. _____
- Office workers don't care about wasting paper. _____
- Staff throw things away because it is the easy option. _____

For questions 6–11, complete the summary with words from the text. Use no more than three words for each answer.

Most managers do not realize that the amount of waste their business creates means they are making less (6) _____ than they could be. It is not difficult (7) _____ the amount that is thrown away and to make savings. Computers can be used effectively to cut costs, but they should not be (8) _____ overnight. Savings can also be made by using (9) _____ that use less energy and last longer, and by wasting far less paper. Thinner, recycled paper is cheaper and (10) _____ of a sheet should be printed on. Printing (11) _____ wastes money if a document is not going to be seen by customers.

How to Save Money in the Workplace

Businesses everywhere create an enormous amount of unnecessary waste. This not only has an impact on the environment, it also has a hugely damaging effect on the profit that companies make. By making a few changes to the way the office is run, managers can reduce waste and make considerable savings to their business.

Technology Use modern technology to your advantage. Why send out promotion material in the post when it can be done more effectively by e-mail? Your marketing mail is more likely to reach the person you want it to instead of the waste-paper basket, and you will also save money on paper, envelopes and postage.

Energy Ensure that everyone switches off their computers at night. Computers left on standby use 50% of the electricity they use when they are actually in operation.

Use energy-efficient light bulbs – they are more expensive than ordinary ones but last eight times longer, use a quarter of the energy and give the same brightness. This could save around 100€ during the bulb's lifetime.

Paper Paper is probably the biggest source of waste in any office, with the average office worker using up to 50 sheets of A4 every day.

Set printers and photocopiers to print on both sides of the paper. This can reduce the amount of paper used in your office by 50% immediately.

Use recycled paper. Producing recycled paper uses between 28–70% less energy and it is cheaper to buy.

Use 80g paper sheets instead of thicker paper. Thicker paper is more expensive and the thicker the paper you use, the more paper you waste.

Printing Ask whether it is really necessary to print in colour for internal documents, as it is nearly 50% cheaper to print a document in black and white.

Think about how you are going to dispose of the print cartridge. It might be more convenient to put it in the bin but it is far more resource efficient to recycle.

There are all sorts of other ways savings can be made. Remember – saving the environment can mean saving yourself money, too.

D Now check the key on page 270. How many questions did you answer correctly?

E Tick the sentences about the reading task that are true for you and think about how you can answer more questions correctly next time.

1. I could quickly see what reference words referred to.
2. Understanding references helped me to answer some questions.
3. I find T/F/NG tasks easier than I did a few weeks ago.
4. I find summary completion tasks easier than I did a few weeks ago.
5. I was happy with the number of questions I answered correctly.

Key vocabulary in context

Circle the correct option in each sentence.

1. Waste is what you want to keep / throw away.
2. Profit is money made / lost.
3. If you reduce something, you make it more / less.
4. If something is efficient, it works well / doesn't work well.
5. The source of something is where it comes from / ends up.

Writing 1: elements of a good composition

- A Look at the instructions for a typical writing task. Is it a topic you want to write about?

It is not right that film stars, singers and footballers are paid more money than they can spend while people all over the world do not have enough money to feed their children.

Do you agree with this statement?

Give reasons for your answer and include any relevant examples from your experience. Write at least 250 words.

- B Read the composition a student wrote and make notes about what you like and don't like. Then compare with a partner.

It's absolutely terrible that some people like film stars and footballers are paid so much money when there are millions of very poor people in the world. They can't afford to feed their children and don't even have clean water to drink.

People say that films stars and footballers entertain us and create jobs for other people but that's rubbish. It's disgusting that they can make more money in one day or one evening than most people can make in a year. Some people don't even make that much money in a lifetime.

People should be paid according to how useful their job is - not how much money they make for other people. If there wasn't any teachers or nurses, society couldn't continue and so they should make as much as a rock star.

Film stars, singers and footballers do an important job and we need to have them in the world, but it is completely crazy that they can be so rich so quickly.

- C A teacher has read the composition and made some comments. Mark five comments below (Y) yes, this is true and five comments (N) no, this is not true.

1. The composition is difficult to read. I don't know what you are trying to say. —
2. The composition is too short. You need an introduction and a longer conclusion. —
3. You don't answer the question. A lot of what you say is not relevant. —
4. The composition is badly organized and there are no paragraphs. —
5. You express your opinions too strongly using very informal expressions. —
6. There should be more linking words and phrases to introduce ideas and opinions. —
7. There are a lot of spelling mistakes – sometimes with very simple words. —
8. There are a lot of basic grammatical mistakes. —
9. Sometimes it is not clear what reference words refer to. —
10. You shouldn't use contractions in a composition like this. —

- D Find at least one example of each true comment in the composition. Compare with a partner.

Writing 2: introducing opinions

- A Read the student's second composition. Highlight parts that make it better than the first.

Famous people like film stars, singers and footballers are paid huge amounts of money. It seems that every year they can demand more and more money for what they do. They are paid so much, in fact, that they probably do not know what to spend it on.

In my opinion, it is wrong that these people have so much money to spend when many people in developing countries all over the world cannot afford to feed their children. In these countries, some people do not even have clean water to drink or a proper place to live. Of course, film stars and footballers entertain people, generate money and create jobs for other people, but I do not believe that they should earn more in one day or in one evening than most people can earn in a year or perhaps even in a lifetime.

I think that people should be paid according to how useful their job is rather than how much money they can generate. If teachers and nurses stopped doing their jobs, society could not function properly. These key workers should be paid properly for the jobs they do.

To sum up, I would say that although entertainers have an important role to play in society, it is unfair that they are paid so much compared with so many other people in the world.

Perhaps there could be a limit on how much people can earn, or perhaps people who earn huge amounts of money should pay more tax.

- B Which phrase below can replace each underlined word or phrase in the composition? Use one of the phrases below twice.

Clearly	I think it is wrong	In conclusion	I wonder if	To my mind
---------	---------------------	---------------	-------------	------------

1. In my opinion _____
2. Of course _____
3. I do not believe that _____
4. I think that _____
5. To sum up _____
6. Perhaps _____

Exam tip: You will need to express your opinion in the second composition in the Writing Module, but you shouldn't express it too aggressively. Introduce opinions and try to make them softer.

WB

Go to Workbook page 25 for the writing task.

Speaking

A Match each statement 1–5 with a follow-up comment a–e.
